Learning

The conference is an opportunity to learn about the latest trends in supply chain automation, sustainability in logistics, improving supply chain efficiency and reducing operational costs, eco-friendly transportation solutions, and the role of green logistics in minimizing environmental impact.

Networking

The chemical supply chain runs as much on relationships as it does on contracts. It brings together CXOs, supply chain leaders, logistics providers, port authorities and technology innovators under one roof. It is a platform to identify partners, benchmark against peers and have conversations that translate into real business outcomes.

Exposure
